

Participation in the GLHERS consultation

The consultation has included:

- over 340 individuals and organisations contacted

Participation at meetings has included:

- 107 participants in seminars, broken down as
 - 39 archaeological contractors
 - 22 local societies
 - 16 museums/curatorial
 - 11 planning/regulatory
 - 8 universities/academic
 - 5 consultants
 - 6 others
- over 30 participants in a special Historic Environment seminar
- 14 individual face-to-face meetings with key individuals involved in historic building and conservation work
- 9 face-to-face meetings with 12 key individuals from archaeological contractors and universities

In addition to the direct consultation there have been several hundred visitors to the project web site pages, forum and questionnaire.

- 26 questionnaire responses have been received and the results will be analysed

Over 90 key individuals and organisation were invited to today's seminar, with over 30 indicating that they could attend and many others promising to send comments on the draft synopsis via the web site or other means (final figures to be confirmed)